Promising Practices

Scope of Work	Focus
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Explores culturally specific attitudes towards mental illness; ○ Engages California communities examining cultural strengths & resources related to SDR; ○ Literature Review: Academic Partner: Dr. Larry Yang, Columbia University. 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Ethnically/Racially/Culturally-based Community Programs; ○ Non-Traditional Stigma & Discrimination (SDR) Programs; ○ Increased Program Visibility and Ongoing Referrals (Database Clearinghouse).

PPP Introduction and Overview

- Statewide SDR efforts to begin new research to build the evidence for practices that are currently being used by ethnic/cultural/racial communities
- Advance the evidence for these practices to help expand the availability of culturally-relevant practices.
 - To capture the wealth of innovation, expertise and experience that may already exist

PPP starting point

...In some [ethnic and cultural] communities there may be practices that have been found to be effective by the community but have not been researched. Advancing the evidence for these practices could help expand the availability of culturally-relevant practices. Also, existing best practices might need adaptations to increase their effectiveness for California's ethnic and cultural communities.

Empowerment Process

Phase 1: Engagement

Phase 2: Co-Learning
