My name is Carrie J. Manning I have worked in the human services field for twenty-three years. I have been in recovery for twenty-six years for substance use and mental health injury. I have a bachelor's degree in human services. My first position was as a certified substance abuse counselor for 15 years. Currently I have been in the role of MHSA Team Leader for three years, for Lake County Behavioral Health Services. As the MHSA Team Leader, I supervise four peer support centers and the MHSA prevention services. In this position I am able to utilize my life experience and education to ensure that the centers offer the services that our community needs to become healthier. I am also able to ensure that our peer support specialists are treated with respect, are able to grow in their positions, and support their desire to obtain certification. I love my current position and have an amazing team.
